"Hogslayer" at the National Motorcycle Museum
Vintage Rally
June 1-3, 2012

SLINGER, WIS. (May 18, 2012) - "Hogslayer: The Unapproachable Legend" documentary will have multiple showings at the National Motorcycle Museum Vintage Rally in Anamosa, Iowa on June 1-3, 2012. The complimentary showings are in support of the National Motorcycle Museum Vintage Rally which is celebrating motorcycle drag racing this year.

These will be some of the last public showings of the "Hogslayer" documentary.

"Hogslayer: The Unapproachable Legend" is the true-life story of the dual-engine Norton dragster designed, built and raced by TC Christenson and John Gregory of Sunset Motors in Kenosha, Wisconsin. The documentary chronicles the Sunset Motors Racing Team's unrivaled innovation and unbridled courage as they faced unyielding challengers throughout the United States and Europe in the 1970's to capture multiple world championships. The original Hogslayer dragster is presently on permanent exhibit at the National Motorcycle Museum in the United Kingdom.
